About Albuquerque

Located in the high deserts of New Mexico, Albuquerque is the largest city in the state and offers modern and traditional attractions. The city's old town dates back to 1706 and started off as a Spanish colony, historic adobe buildings mix with the modern age architecture to create a one-of-a-kind environment that is unique to the city. With a large selection of activities such as museums, restaurants, and locally made Native American handicrafts, Albuquerque offers unique opportunities for food lovers, shoppers, and history buffs alike.

Keeping in touch with its roots, the city has an array of venues that are unlike anywhere else, from weddings in an original adobe cathedral, to parties and events with family and friends at one of the large outdoor venues the city has the variety to host it all. The ABQ BioPark is a fantastic outdoor riverside park with animals, trains, and a nearby botanic garden that make it easy to entertain and host larger events. For smaller, more personal events, the Casa Rondena Winery offers visitors an open vineyard and indoor tasting room, and the San Felipe de Neri Church combines history and beauty as one of the city's original cathedrals. Albuquerque is a fascinating and historic city that is proud of its past but always looking towards the future, with its mixture of historic and modern venues the city offers beautiful and unique venues for any event.
