About Syracuse

Known to have the highest annual snowfall for any metropolitan city in the United States, Syracuse is a New York City that is located south of Lake Ontario with a diverse and rich history and culture. The city houses museums, art galleries, and many historical attractions related to the early 1900's lifestyle and architecture allowing visitors to revisit the city's past. The canal museum traces the waterways of the Erie Canal and its importance to the city and its growth. Interactive exhibits found in the planetarium offer families a chance to participate in hands-on learning activities, and the Everson Museum of Art focuses on traditional American art. Along with the numerous attractions, the city has breathtaking architecture and venue locations for hosting a variety of events and parties of all sizes.

Elegant weddings in a traditional gothic style chapel, or corporate retreat at one of the open recreational parks, Syracuse is capable of accommodating groups from large to small. Locations like Onondaga Lake Park offer lakeside fun in the sun and are large enough to host parties with hundreds of attendees, making it a great location with its natural scenery and outdoor activities to host any event. Thornden Park is a rose garden and amphitheater with colorful flowers, natural beauty, and an indoor event space making it a great place to host weddings, birthdays, and smaller parties that everyone can enjoy. The options available around the city are numerous and offer something for everyone, from the indoors to out, venue selections throughout Syracuse make it simple to plan the perfect event.
